

How do I know if I need custom fitted ear moulds or ear plugs?

All our custom fit products will require custom ear impressions, so if you are buying any custom product, we will require your personal ear impressions. Our Custom earplugs and ear moulds for earphones will always fit properly and will not put pressure on your ear canal to form a seal because they are fitted exactly to your contours. Enhanced Listening offers a full range of custom noise reduction earplugs designed to meet the needs of industry, musicians, motorcyclists, swimmers, sleeping and most other requirements.

Noise blocking of custom fit earplugs?

With custom fitted earplugs, you get sound performance that is just like the lab because they always fit exactly to you and give excellent comfort for long periods. Custom Earplugs do not have an SNR rating as each earplug is individual unlike a generic earplug either disposable or re-usable, they are simple to insert and they will last for many years.

How do I get custom fitted ear moulds or earplugs?

For custom fitted ear moulds or ear plugs, first order the custom fit product you need, then you must obtain a set of impressions.

Our custom products now include an option to get your ear impressions done locally, you will be able to see this option when you are ordering your custom fit product, the cost is £25 ex. VAT, we will take care of calling you to arrange an appointment.

An alternative, is for you to visit your local audiologist and ask for a set of impressions, if you do not know one look in Yellow Pages or www.Yell.com under audiologist or Hearing. The cost is usually £25-£50 and it takes around 15 minutes. You will receive your impressions at the time of your visit to the audiologist. Post the impressions to us and we will do the rest. Please make sure you mail them to the following address and include all your contact details:
